Since our trip is scheduled during spring break, we understand that some may not want to return to Los Angeles - opting to stay in Atlanta or travel from there to other destinations. To make this possible we are offering 2 options:

Option 1: Round Trip Travel – from, and returning to, Los Angeles (Caltech) – Cost $650
Be advised that changing your return flight will likely not be possible with this option.

Option 2: One Way Travel from Caltech (Los Angeles) to Atlanta and Alabama – Cost $550
Be advised that you will be expected to stay with our group until the program is completed, and you will be responsible for your own transportation from our lodging at that point.

* Trip fees include transportation, lodgings, and most food. Additional costs for food while traveling, travel documents and insurance, optional outings, and personal spending may be incurred.

The Civil Rights Alternative Spring Break Trip is possible thanks to generous funding from the Frank and Elsie Stefanko Fund, the George Housner Fund, Caltech Center for Diversity and the Caltech Y.
